

The Hodges don't let a little thing like advanced years stand in the way of a good time . . . Z. Hodges, who is 74, just returned from a trip East. He was accompanied by his brother, Will Hodges of Hayward, who is 83. They drove first to Spokane to visit their brother Joe, who is 77, and then on to Omaha to visit with their stay-at-home brother Tom, who is 90. Total mileage for the trip was 6,000 and the happy-go-lucky brothers covered 11 states and "did" Yellowstone Park and Pike's Peak. They had a fine time and said they weren't a bit tired.

The ability to speak French won for Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Quetin of the San Jose-Los Gatos Road a hobby of life-long interest. A Hollywood friend had brought to this country a French sheep dog, known as Briards. He became so interested in the dog that, on the last trip the Normandie made in 1939, he brought over a mate, named Maida. When circumstances forced him to find a home for the pair, it was necessary that it be a home where French was spoken, or could be, since the dogs understood no other language. Mr. Quetin, of French descent, heard of the dogs and now he and his wife wonder how they ever lived without them. Maida is the mother of all the Briards in California. Her mate is now dead but the Quetins have excellent breeding stock. This unusual breed, now almost extinct in France, dates back to the 12th Century. In case you've never seen one, and most people haven't, they are black with poodle-like hair (the Quetins will shudder at this description) and look heavier than their 80 or 90 pounds. They were originally used for working the sheep and still look as if they could take it. They have angelic dispositions and all you need is a little knowledge of French to be right at home with them.

The newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Carol Johnson were the recipients of an old-fashioned shivaree last week complete with cow bells, firing of guns and flares. They left Sunday on the "Overland Limited" for their new Illinois home.

Next Wednesday is the day set for the first hearing on the industrial zoning proposal. A large delegation of interested residents appeared at the Supervisors hearing last month and won the victory of an over-all plan for industries here. Everyone who was at that hearing should appear again at this one and bring a friend. Only by our interest can be insured the things we want for our community. Don't forget the time: 2:30, Wednesday, July 17, in the Board of Supervisors' Chambers, in the Court House, San Jose.

Hans Hansen Returns

Hans Hansen, owner of the Taste Good Bakery, who returned last week from a trip to Denmark, reports a wonderful time and a particularly enjoyable flight. His KLM Royal Dutch airplane made the trip to Denmark from New York in 24 hours in a supremely smooth flight.

Hansen found his relatives in good physical condition despite war conditions and the occupation of their village by the Germans. He said, however, that they had suffered severely mentally from the constant terror in which they lived. The biggest shortage was, and is, clothing.

Mrs. Hansen, who was operated on shortly before her husband left, has been in Belmont Sanitarium for the past week and her friends may write her there.

Street Widening Petition Denied

Originally proposed by the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, the petition for the widening of Campbell Avenue was denied last week at the hearing before the County Planning Commissioners. The denial was made in a unanimous vote.

Attorney Richard Morton, represented approximately 80 per cent of the merchants on Campbell Avenue who objected to the proposition. He pointed out that many of the merchants would have virtually no space left in their establishments if a 50 foot cut was made.

General amusement was caused by the fact that the original petition came from the Chamber of Commerce of which practically all the merchants are members.

Chamber officials believed that the establishment of a set-back line would facilitate widening at some future date and relieve the heavy traffic congestion on the street, also doing away with double parking. Morton told the commissioners he believed this could be accomplished in other ways and pointed out that such buildings as Rachel's and Dr. W. R. Morgan's office would be virtually wiped out.

Receives Delayed Citations

Last week in San Francisco Francis W. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, received delayed citations for services given as a Navy flier.

Smith who had the rank of Ensign, received the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with Five Stars in lieu of the second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth Air Medals.

The citations were awarded for duty over Okinawa during last March and April.

Smith is now in Campbell at the home of his parents.

Tennis Tournament Starts July 24th

As part of the summer recreational program a tennis tournament is scheduled to begin July 24 for both adults and boys and girls. In each division there will be singles, doubles and mixed doubles.

Harold Drummond will be in charge of the tournament assisted by Dean Close, recreational director.

The contest is divided into two major divisions, junior and senior, with the junior division containing two sections. Youngsters from 15 to 18 make up one section with those under 15 the other.

All matches will be played at night on the high school courts and contestants may sign up for the tournament with Jack Murdoch at the Water Company office or at The Roost. Entries must be in by July 20 and the entry fee is two new tennis balls.

Local merchants and business people are contributing prizes for the winners.

Midget Auto Races To Start

San Jose sport fans will get their first taste of midget auto racing under the arc lights next Thursday night when Promoters Ross Page and Chuck Mosiman present their weekly whirligig at the San Jose Speedway Stadium.

Ed Normi, ex-army pilot from Petaluma who won the feature race in the Fourth of July program at the local speed plant, has indicated he will be back to defend his laurels. Normiaced out Freddy Agabashian by one length in the holiday feature.

Fred Friday, former Southern California midget racing champion will also return to do battle with Normi and Agabashian. Friday, who tied with Normi in the time trials last week and then came back to edge him in the Trophy Dash, was boxed in by two other cars for a majority of the 25 laps in the main event but managed to break away in the last two legs to gain third spot money.

Mosiman and Page have again billed 12 events, headed by the 25-lap feature and 15-lap semi-main. Tony Dutro, San Jose driver who was injured a week ago in a race crack-up in San Francisco, is expected to receive the doctor's OK to race here Thursday night.

Canning Season In Full Swing At Hunt Foods

A full supply of labor for the canning season was forecast yesterday as the United States Employment Service reported that approximately 10,100 persons will be at work in San Jose area food processing plants by today.

The USES said at least 5,500 went onto the job this week as the canning season reached full swing in San Jose, Santa Clara, Sunnyvale and Campbell. Approximately 1,500 others begin work in three canneries at Gilroy, San Martin and Palo Alto, not in the San Jose USES district.

Hunt Foods, Inc., pulled a surprise and started earlier than anticipated due to the arrival of apricots from the San Joaquin Valley. The plant has been operating on whole packs only.

Local fruit is beginning to come in and the plant will start cutting operations any day. Overhead conveyors for direct labelling are now being constructed.

After the cutting starts more workers will be needed for the night shift.

Twenty canneries and four frozen fruit plants in the Santa Clara Valley will process apricots this year.

The San Jose USES office operates in the following canneries: California Packing Corp., Barron-Gray Packing Co., Chevy Chase Canning Co., Clapp Baby Foods, Inc., Custom Canners, Herschel California Food Products, Richmond - Chase Co., Santa Clara Packing Co., Sun Garden Canning Co., Tri-Valley Packing Co., United States Products Corp., and F. G. Wool Co., all of San Jose; Drew Canning Co., and Campbell Canning Co., Campbell; Pratt-Low Preserving Co., Santa Clara; Schuckl and Co., and Libby, McNeill and Libby of Sunnyvale.

Apricots will be processed by such frozen food plants as Frostcraft, Inc., and Joseph Kiser Co. of San Jose, and Baker Products and Pict-Sweet Products of Santa Clara.

Business Firms Must Keep Records

Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers, and all other persons required under price control regulations to have kept records must preserve them until July 1, 1947, the Office of Price Administration announced today.

The action, supplementary order 167, effective as of June 30, 1946, was taken in order to enable OPA to carry on the powers and duties directed to it under the executive order signed by President Truman on June 30, 1946, which authorized OPA to continue all the functions, powers and duties which did not terminate by expiration of those acts on June 30, 1946.

OPA pointed out that all regulations, orders, price schedules and requirements shall be treated as remaining in force for the purpose of sustaining any proper suit, action or prosecution with respect to offenses or rights or liabilities incurred on or before June 30, 1946.

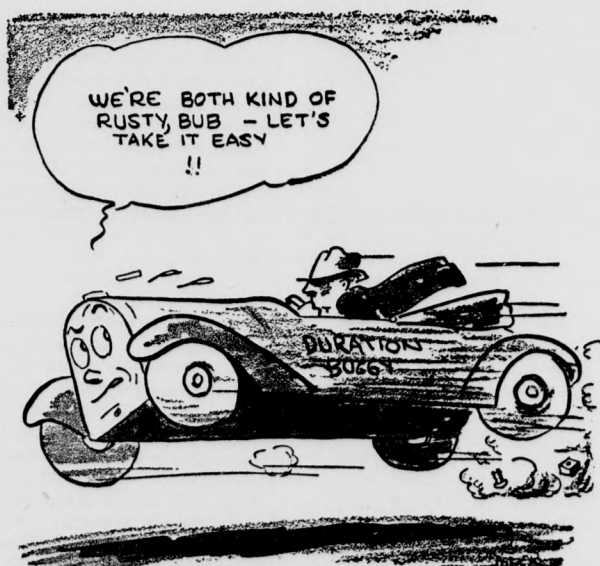

"We wish to point out, however," said Norton Simon, Board Chairman, "that even though total sales reach a fifty million dollar figure for the year, an average quarterly earning rate comparable to the first quarter earnings is the maximum that reasonably can be expected for the full year."

The Hunt organization is working rapidly toward wider national distribution, and will conduct a strong sales campaign in the New York and other eastern markets this fall, backed by an aggressive advertising campaign in the metropolitan New York area.

EDITORIAL

Many citizens of communities today are becoming alarmed at the rapid rate of increase in juvenile delinquency. This delinquency may be attributed to several causes. Some of these are: First, our civilization is becoming more complex, with our young people facing more temptations than at any other time in history. Second, more parents are working and home supervision in many cases is quite lax. Third, adolescents have more money today and are interested in spending it on a good time; and fourth, many cities are not willing to pay money for organized recreation. The civic leaders say "Yes, let's keep the teen-agers off the streets. Let's build swimming pools and recreational centers" . . . but do they put up the money or see that a good recreational system is organized?

We of Campbell have been fortunate the last two summers as we have had capable and well-trained leaders for our recreational programs. This summer the playground is well organized and is being enjoyed by many youngsters. The high school age group is looking forward to swimming parties and dances. This is all fine for the summer, but this program should be a year 'round project. Let's become actively interested not only as organizations, but as individuals and see what we can do to improve the recreational opportunities for young people in Campbell.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In the San Jose press of July 4 and 5 I was credited with making certain statements. All those who know me personally are aware of the fact that I never temporize, but am just as vehement in praise as criticism. The article stated that unless the governors of the Chamber of Commerce supported incorporation they would be "fired" under the guidance of The Campbell Taxpayers Association. This is totally incorrect. At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on June 19 at which none of the governing body was present except the chairman, a heated discussion arose, and as a result a motion was made by the assembled members of the Chamber of Commerce and not by the Taxpayers Association, that letters be sent to each member of the Governing Body stressing the importance of the times, and giving them the alternative of functioning better or resigning. The "motion" was passed unanimously, and letters were written, approved by the chairman, and forwarded by mail.

Martin Walsh, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed surprise, trying to create the impression that he knew nothing of the matter. But he received the letter giving full details of the motion on June 21.

The policy of the Taxpayers Association is first to ascertain the will of the people, and then zealously carry out their wishes. We never try to coerce, for all our actions are governed by the people's express wishes.

This is a period in which every organization in Campbell must put forth its best efforts to grasp the many advantages offered.

The Chamber of Commerce is a very important factor if it operates properly. It has many energetic members, and these should be encouraged. But I state most emphatically that the Board of Governors should do their part or resign and make room for those more active. I know full well that some justifiable excuse can be made for sickness or exceptional business activity, but even that

I visited the dear old home,
Home of my childhood days,
The roads were all familiar ones,
The paths familiar ways.

I stood again on the old stone porch
And raised the knocker, old.
My eyes were dim with unshed tears,
My heart grew strangely cold.

When in answer to my call,
The door flung open wide,
A stranger stood beyond the sill
And bade me step inside.

I begged the boon to visit
The little room under the eaves.
When sunset light was shining gold,
In thro the maple leaves.

That room and I had secrets,
As I knelt at the window, low
It whispered many a tale to me,
Stories of long ago.

The lullaby my mother sang,
The prayer at Mother's knee,
And happy Christmas mornings,
Came crowding back to me.

Once more, I said my childish prayer,
Just as in days of yore,
And a blessing seemed to fall on me,
Straight from the Golden Shore.

should not stand in the way of progress.

I personally, and I am sure every member of the Taxpayers Association will work strenuously to make Campbell a more prosperous city, one we can be proud of, and will gladly co-operate with any other organization with similar aims.

NEW NATIONAL ANTHEM

WASHINGTON — Gen. Joseph P. McNarney, who is doing a better job as commander of occupied Germany than most people think, likes to sing. And when he comes up to Berlin for his regular visits with the other Allied commanders he always engages in a song fest with the Russians.

As a result, the Russians have adopted a new song which they virtually regard as the American national anthem. They sing it on any and all occasions. They think it brings pride and pleasure to the hearts of Americans; and the Red Army in Berlin, at least, is anxious to please Americans.

Actually, the sing may bring great pride and pleasure to General McNarney, but other Americans privately are getting a bit weary of it. The Russians have learned the English words, and to the tune of "The Stars and Stripes Forever," here is what they sing as the new American national anthem:

"Three cheers for the Sam Jones Junior high school,
The best junior high in Toledo."

The fact that they have learned the words illustrates a point which some of our top-bracket statesmen don't always realize — namely, despite our difficulties with the Soviet government, we have no quarrel with the Russian people. Not much has been said about it, but relations between the American and Soviet armies in Berlin have been extraordinarily good. At first the Russians were suspicious, didn't want any fraternization of their troops with ours. But that suspicion has largely disappeared. The Red army is a large, unwieldy badly disciplined, very human cross section of the Russian people, and that part of the Red army which is in Berlin likes Americans.

PRUSSIAN JUNKERS

Robert Murphy, political adviser to General McNarney in Berlin, has secretly sent a bitter complaint to the state department because the Russians have redistributed the estates of the Prussian Junkers in the Soviet zone of Germany. The Russians have broken up some 10,000 large estates among about 275,000 peasants. Despite the fact that the Potsdam agreement specifically called for breaking up large estates, Murphy has warned Washington that this land reform in the Russian zone is endangering the western type of democracy we want.

WE DIDN'T DEFEAT JAPAN

Most people won't believe it, but in Czechoslovakia, a country not unfriendly in the U.S.A., the people have no idea that the United States had anything to do with defeating Japan. They think it was Russia that did it all.

Reason is that the Russian radio and propaganda machine has done a skillful job of propagandizing the Czechoslovak people, while we have done absolutely nothing to counteract it.

Reason we haven't told our side of the story is that Congress has hamstrung the state department on shortwave broadcasting. The house appropriations committee cut the heart out of the state department's appropriation for propaganda, especially radio broadcasting.

MAILMAN SULLIVAN

Too little attention is paid in this politics-ridden capital to the quiet, unassuming officials who consistently do a bang-up job.

One of them is Assistant Postmaster General Gael Sullivan. Coming from Chicago, and trained under Mayor Ed Kelly, Sullivan at first looked like a pure political appointee. In six months, however, he has become one of the most effective members of the little cabinet.

Pastor Protests Booze, Brawls

Campbell for several years has been drifting towards the crossroads of drunken license. Today we are there. I for one wish to register my utter disgust both for the administration that allows such conditions to exist and also for a citizenry that will do nothing about it but talk in secrecy of the things they have seen or know. Let us get together and say and do. Let them do it without the filthy scenes that were enacted last Sunday evening in East Campbell. Why do we have to have so many saloons in this town? Individually we are helpless, but as a group we can make the authorities toe the line and clean up some of these irregularities.

In the name of a town that once ranked high as a place where decent people desired to live.

Included in the July 4th family picnic at the Cowdery home besides the above mentioned, were Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Burrows, Oakland, son-in-law and daughter of the Cowdery's; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Foster, son Raymond of Alameda; Mr. and Mrs. Bill D. Buell, Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. James Zaccagna and daughter, Michelle, San Jose; the Cowdery household including Mr. and Mrs. Cowdery, Alleen and Arthur Cowdery, Doris Cowdery Brainard and sons Stanley and Stephen.

SUNDAY WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Marc Watson of Campbell was the setting Sunday, July 7th, for the wedding of their daughter Geneva Alice to Frederick A. Townsley of St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y.

The attendants were Miss Aline Watson, sister of the bride, and Richard Colta, acting as best man, with the Rev. Father Ryan of Burbank officiating.

The bride is a former graduate of Campbell Union High School and now employed by the California Water Company in San Jose, while Mr. Townsley has recently been released from service in the United States Navy.

After a month in New York the couple will return to Campbell to reside.

NEW CAMPBELL RESIDENTS

New arrivals in Campbell are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Berglund who exchanged houses with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Paul. The Berglunds are now occupying the former Paul home at 250 W. Campbell Avenue and the Paul's are at home in the former Berglund home in Berkeley. Mr. Berglund is traffic manager for the Food Machinery Company in San Jose.

The new residents have two daughters, Joyce and Audrey. In the fall Audrey will attend Campbell Union High School and Joyce will enroll at San Jose State College.

Visits From Modesto

Mrs. Charles Wiggins was accompanied home from a recent visit in Modesto by her sister, Miss Betty Wenger, who will stay here until next Tuesday.

distinctive white designs. The entire set consists of salad bowls (large and round), hors d'oeuvre trays, vases, ash traps, and a large wine decanter. You should not fail to stop by the House of Riches for if you are not interested in the entire set each piece is complete in itself. The ash traps are round and low and large enough to be ideal. The vases are different looking and would lend a distinguished look to any room. Also on display are copper silent butlers which are certainly not designed for the lowly task which they perform. The interesting copper candle holders and hurricane lamps would be an added attraction in either the living or bed room. If you are interested in gifts or in new attractions for your own home visit the House of Riches soon.

Don't wear yourself out looking for boys' or men's sox in San Jose. You can get some elegant ones right here at home. The bright colored sox in boys' sizes are of the striped variety which boys think are just right. The new pastel sox for men are half wool and half cotton. Better stop at Benson's soon.

The Book Mark

California's centennial observances commemorating raising of the American flag in Mexican California — July 7 at Monterey, July 8 in San Francisco and August 13 in Los Angeles—are recalling the picturesque leaders in the drama of the American occupation. Not the least is Thomas O. Larkin.

As one of its contributions in celebration of the centennials, Stanford University Press has published the revised edition of Larkin's biography, "From Cowhides to Golden Fleece" by Reuben L. Underhill of Berkeley.

Thomas O. Larkin is a man who in his crowded career distinguished himself for many "firsts." He was the first and only consul of the United States to California, first chain store owner and land speculator, first to recommend to Easterners the salubrious California climate. He is the patron saint of the chamber of commerce booster, the "Heaven on Earth" clubbers and the modern real estate subdivider.

Larkin played a prominent part in the American occupation. When Commodore Sloat secretly dispatched to him news of the contemplated arrival of the American fleet off the California coast, Larkin dusted off his impressive consular garb, got out his gold-headed consular cane and went to work. He was on hand to greet Commodore Sloat when he first arrived off Monterey on July 2. It was Larkin who accomplished the release of dynamic Don Mariano Vallejo and his fellow prisoners after the Bear Flag Revolt whose centenary was celebrated at Sonoma June 14 and 15. He won the friendship and confidence of Sloat and his successor, Commodore Stockton, and aided in shaping plans for the new American territory.

Details for Underhill's vivid biography were supplied largely by unpublished Larkin letters in the Bancroft library at the University of California. In his revision Underhill has placed more emphasis on the colorful events leading up to and following the American occupation. Says Allen Nevins of the first edition, "The story of his crowded life has waited long for adequate telling, but at last it has received a book which no student of Western history can neglect."

Keep Ration Books If You Want Sugar

Do not destroy or throw away your ration books, the OPA warned all citizens today.

Sugar rationing is still in effect. It is administered under the Second War Powers Act which was renewed a few days ago.

Spare stamp 49 is required to obtain five pounds of sugar for household use.

Spare stamps 9 and 10 are good through October 31 for five pounds of canning sugar each. A. B. Hawley, chief of the sugar rationing division, stated that no individual can obtain more than 10 pounds of sugar for home canning. He said all applications for an additional amount would be refused.

Hawley explained that OPA Price Control Boards have no authority in rationing matters. They simply distribute applications for new rationing books to returned service men, babies and others who have never had rationing books or who have surrendered them to OPA for any reason. Applications for replacement of lost or stolen books and applications for members of the armed forces on leave or furlough are also distributed by the boards.

FARM NEWS

DDT AND CITRICOLA SCALE

Investigations of the College of Agriculture during 1945 show satisfactory control of citricola scale can be obtained with DDT powder. It should be applied during July and August. A thorough coverage spray made of finely divided wettable DDT powder at the rate of one pound of actual DDT per 100 gallons of water was used.

Since most wettable DDT preparations contain 50 per cent of DDT, it will be necessary to use two pounds per 100 gallons of water to have the desired amount of DDT in the spray mixture. There is no likelihood of residue reaching the tolerance of the United States Food and Drug Act when this mixture is used.

The power should be wet and spread well for best results in control of citricola scale, leaving a uniform deposit on the foliage twigs, and fruits to contact the young scale insects. Some brands of DDT powder contain appreciable amounts of wetting or spreading agents. Excessive wetting by the spray mixture generally results in heavy run-off of the DDT powder, lessening the efficiency of the kill and wasting the powder.

The use of DDT in solution in any grade of petroleum oil or other solvent should not be used on citrus except on a limited experimental basis until further information is available.

The relative effectiveness of various kinds of wettable DDT spray mixtures for control of citricola scale will require more work by College of Agriculture investigators before definite conclusions are warranted.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR ALFALFA

If you are a good dairyman you do not have to be told at this stage of the feed crisis that it is a good idea to handle the feed you have in such a way as to get the most out of it. Every progressive dairyman is always concerned with getting more milk from his feed supply.

M. S. Beckley, Assistant Farm Advisor, has an idea to help. He says wilted alfalfa silage produces more milk than hay. He tells us about an experiment which proved this point at the Beltsville, Maryland, Experiment Station of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dairy cows were fed wilted alfalfa silage in comparison with barn-cured No. 2 alfalfa-clover hay and the same kind and grade of field-cured hay. Here are the results:

The cows produced 3.1 per cent more four per cent milk, they declined in milk flow at a slower rate, and they made liveweight gains on somewhat less grain and total nutrients on the silage. The cows produced 16 per cent more milk on the wilted silage ration and nine per cent more on the barn-cured hay than on the field-cured alfalfa.

Mr. Beckley says we can be assured of these results because the same experiment was conducted the year before with the same outcome.

If you are interested in silage to build your feed supply, the assistant farm advisor will be pleased to discuss any problems in this connection. You may wish to call on him at the Agricultural Extension Service, 201 Post Office Bldg.

HOME PRESERVATION STILL NEEDED

Continued home food preservation is still needed according to Winifred Jecker, Home Demonstration Agent of the Agricultural Extension Service.

Homemakers are asked to continue food conservation and food preservation. Home canning of fruits and vegetables is especially urged this year. Directions for home canning are available at the local Extension Service office, 201 Post Office Bldg., San Jose. The "Home Canning" bulletin includes timetables for processing fruits and vegetables, and complete information on sealing jars; direction for both metal and glass lids are included. Canning without sugar is discussed in this bulletin and ways of using various sugar substitute are suggested. Sugar has no effect on the keeping quality of the fruit. It is quite possible to can successfully using just water. If honey is used remember that it is best in a light syrup, perhaps one cup of honey to three cups of water. In that proportion the honey flavor will not be so pronounced. Corn syrup is only half as sweet as sugar, therefore, it requires two cups of corn syrup to equal the sweetening power of one cup of sugar. Substituted on that basis the result is a decidedly sticky syrup. For that reason it might be advisable to use half corn syrup and half honey.

For further information on home canning write the local Agricultural Extension Service office, or call Columbia 3866.

CITRUS MIMEOGRAPHS AVAILABLE

Several new mimeographs are available at the Extension Service office on citrus. The pruning of citrus, the planting and care of citrus and many other subjects relative to growth of citrus trees. Those interested in any of these mimeographs may call for same at the local office or call Columbia 3866.

Romance of Food

By LARRY BLAKE

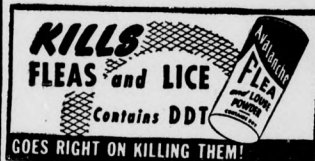

Bananas are known as "Golden" fruit for the money involved in the banana trade as for their color.

Few foods in history have been important enough to have countries named for them, and while no one country has been named after a banana, the fact remains that most of the countries of Central America when referred to jointly are called the "Banana Republics".

And with good reason. Bananas made their first appearance in the United States back in 1804 when 30 bunches were imported to New York City from Cuba. Since then the annual imports of this now popular fruit have increased to well over a million times that figure. Almost all of this enormous amount is grown in the Central American and Caribbean Sea area. In some of these small republics nearly all of the cultivable land has been given over to the production of bananas. While the crop is profitable to the plantation owners it is hazardous for the workers. According to records of one American company, more than 3,000 men died from malaria and other tropical diseases during the installation of one plantation alone, to say nothing of those who died of poisonous snake bites.

Like so many other foods, bananas most likely came from India. While some wild species were reported in Central and South American jungles at a very early date, it is a matter of record that the early Spanish settlers brought along banana plantings from Africa, which, in turn probably came from India.

One good way to prepare this delicious fruit, when you can get it, is this: Split six bananas; lay close together in pan; over them spread powdered cinnamon, mixed with sugar deep enough to cover; put several bits of butter on top; bake 20 minutes in oven; baste several times with syrup and serve with own juice.

CANCER SOCIETY HOLDS ANNUAL MEET

The annual meeting of the California Division of the American Cancer Society was held at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco June 29, 1946.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. J. F. Rinehart of San Francisco. The main speaker of the day was Dr. Frank Adair, president of the American Cancer Society. Dr. Adair stated that it has been demonstrated in the East than cancer prevention clinics have a definite place in the control of cancer. He said that as shown by the number of persons who come for check-ups that the public is being educated to the need of the yearly examination for cancer.

All prevention cancer clinics must be recognized by the American Medical Associations through the County Medical Associations before they can be established.

Dr. Adair went on to state that the National Board of the American Cancer Society has been reorganized and that at the present time is composed of 28 business men and 28 medical men.

Col. Alderson, professor of clinical surgery at Yale, has been made the executive secretary of the American Cancer Society for work throughout the United States. Because of his outstanding qualifications, research of the American Cancer Society is expected to be extended.

The program in California was discussed by Mrs. Doris Rye, Nixon State Commander, who said that 15 counties in this state have organized programs with regard to cancer. It was stated this time that the American Cancer Society have been extended $100,000,000 per year by the government for research.

Representation from the Cancer Committee and also from the American Cancer Society of San Jose attended this meeting.

Veterans News

Many minor children find themselves recipients of monetary benefits from the government as a result of the death of their veteran fathers.

To guard the interests of such minors who are receiving pension or insurance payments is a part of the job of the Veterans Administration attorneys.

In every state but California VA attorneys may actually appear in court for the guardian. In California, the VA assists in getting the guardianship set up by working with an attorney chosen to represent the guardian.

Legal designation of guardian or custodian of a minor beneficiary of pension or insurance payments must take place before the VA can begin paying those benefits.
When a claim involving guardianship comes to the VA, its attorneys are notified immediately and expedite required legal action to prevent minor children of a veteran from suffering hardship because of delayed payments.

Question: I am a veteran of World War II carrying $10,000 insurance. My 7-year-old son is the beneficiary. In the case of my death how can I be sure he will get full benefit of it?

Answer: The VA will make periodic audits of the fund account; which it requires the guardian or custodian keep. If any mishandling of funds by the guardian appears the VA will take the case to court, request the appointment of a new guardian, and force repayment of misappropriated money to the estate.

Q. I am a veteran married to an ex-WAC. If we go back to school will we both be entitled to subsistence allowance?

A. Yes. You may claim your wife as a dependent and will be entitled to $90 a month. Your wife, however, cannot claim you as a dependent, so her allowance will be $65 a month. Both together you will be able to draw $155.

Q. When I left the service I dropped half my insurance policy maintaining only $5,000. I want to know if I can reinstate that half now and carry the full $10,000?

A. Yes. Until January 1, 1947 you may reinstate all or any portion of it in multiples of $500 merely by sending in two premiums on the part that has lapsed in addition to the payments you have been making, plus a statement that your health is as good as it was when the insurance lapsed. After the first of the year you may be required to undergo a physical examination.

Independence Day Celebration

Combining a farewell party for the Enderton family with a well-coming back home for the C. H. "Ted" Baker family, the E. C. Dalzell and Dave Ribble families united for a Fourth of July celebration culminating in a turkey dinner at the Ribble home.

The Endertons are now on their way to New York, enroute to Germany to join Col. Enderton and make their home with the American Army Forces for the next two years. They were scheduled to leave Campbell on Wednesday. The Bakers formerly lived on Harrison Avenue, selling their home a year ago to move to a small almond ranch at Chico.

Those present on the 4th were Mrs. Marion Enderton, Alice and Ann and Herbert and Donnie; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Baker, Betty and Marion and Billy and Dick; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dalzell and sons Bobby and Glenn; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Ribble and children Elizabeth and David Junior. Betty Baker was the house guest of Jean Jensen during her stay.

Enjoying a two-day outing over the week-end, the Baker, Dalzell and Ribble families went to Capitola and Santa Cruz on Friday for a day's fishing. Mr. Baker and two sons left early to spend the day deep sea fishing, bringing back a sizeable catch, and joined the family later for a beach picnic.

On Saturday the family trio motored to Big Basin for a pleasant day's outing.

Box Office Reporter

Co-starred at the Campbell Theater Friday and Saturday with "Hold That Blonde" is "Midnight Manhunt." There's murder and there's mirth in this Pine-Thomas production, George Zucco attending to the former in his accustomed manner, while William Gargan, Ann Savage, Leo Gorcey and Paul Hurst share the latter responsibility with most of the others in the cast and with David Lang, who wrote the script. Mr. Gargan and Miss Savage, portraying rival reporters, also take care of the romantic requirement, and a nice pairing of personalities it is.

The picture opens with a murder by Zucco in plain view of the camera, after which the story concerns the purloining and sequestering of the corpus delicti by newspaper reporters and other persons who have various reasons for wanting to (1) retain and or (2) relinquish possession of it. The place is New York, the time is any time, and it all happens in one night.

Maxwell Shane served Pine and Thomas as associate producer of this item in their string of practical pictures and Mr. Thomas directed in person.
